Parent/Guardian Consent Form

Students will work collaboratively and independently on a series of short films this year. They will explore many different roles both in front of and behind the camera. They will learn fundamentals in filmmaking such as different shooting and editing styles with an emphasis on how movement and sound play a role in cinema. Students will be encouraged to improvise and explore new ways of thinking about starting points and story-telling. Student and teacher feedback is also an essential part of the learning process. Central to this course is the magical, world-building potentials of cinema. The students Imagination is the driving force most important piece of equipment in our class.
